Excerpt: .at Fort Lyon, Colo., where he intended making his home. But the death of Carson the following May prevented the visit. Like every other man who achieves distinction by superior excellence in some particular calling, Buffalo Bill (who had now shed the familiar title of Billy) had his would-be rivals as buffalo-killers. Among this number was a wellknown scout named Billy Comstock, who sought to dispute the claim of champion. Comstock was quite famous among the Western army, being one of the oldest scouts and most skillful hunters. He was murdered by Indians seven years after the event about to be recorded, while scouting for Custer. Buffalo Bill was somewhat startled one day upon receipt of a letter from a well-known army officer, offering to wager the sum of $500 that Comstock could kill a greater number of buffaloes in a certain given time,...
