World Almanac Library, 2002. Library Binding. Book Condition: New. 0836852753 Children's Literature Following the conclusion of the Vietnam War in 1975, the opposing super powers entered into what was to be the end game of the Cold War. Between that time and 1990, the Cold War was waged primarily through arms reduction treaties, ongoing propaganda and defense spending. In the end, the efforts of the western democracies, and in particular the United States, led to the fracturing of the European communist block. The Soviet Union ceased to exist and communist regimes in Eastern European nations crumbled. The end of the decades-long confrontation that marked the post World War Two era is presented in the fourth and final volume of "The Cold War" series. Christine Hatt details the time period within which the Cold War came to its conclusion. Particular emphasis is placed upon the roles American presidents and Soviet leaders played in the process of bringing the Cold War to an end. Additionally, Ms. Hatt offers some closing thoughts regarding the political future of our world as we move into an age when the potentially disastrous but predictable power bases of the Cold War years no longer exist. Perhaps the most telling message of this informative, illustrated book is the fact that while the threat of global nuclear war is no longer a pressing one, variables such as racism, ethnocentrism, nationalism and terrorism have now come more fully to the forefront. 2002, World Almanac Library, $29.27. Ages 10 to 14. Reviewer: Greg M. Romaneck School Library Journal Gr 5-8-Causes covers the Cold War's ideological roots in the opposing economic systems of the U.S. and the U.S.S.R., the decline in relations between the two countries at the end of World War II, the Truman Doctrine, the Korean War, and the slight...
