Not illustrated. 1902 Excerpt: .to draw and finish the outline before they pay the slightest attention to light and shade, losing in this way one of the most valuable helps to action, proportion, and construction. It is not necessary to indicate the tone at first, merely the important accents of the edge of the shadow; and to study whether the edge comes sharp or soft, and how sharp or how soft. I want here to call special attention to the necessity of making all these indications of accents with all the skill and care one is master of. After having shown a student how the thing is done, one is apt to come around and find a mere succession of spots put down unintelligently, without reference to the structural points, and the pleased scholar smiles on one as if he had done just what was desired. I have heard it...

Reviews

It is easy to read through easier to fully grasp. It had been written very completely and useful. I am pleased to let you know that here is the greatest book we have read during my personal life and could be the very best book for possibly.
-- Miss Marge Jerde

It is really an remarkable publication I actually have possibly studied. It usually is not going to cost excessive. Its been written in an exceedingly basic way and is particularly only right after I finished reading this publication through which basically transformed me, affect the way I think.
